

CON- FIDENTIAL INQUIRY SIGHT

Using newspapers as a playground to explore how informations and representations infiltrate our mind through images and texts curations that constantly reshaping how we perceive the world. In this project, I am mimicking it by forcing my intention to the audiences and let them reconfigure the context subconsciously based on their past experiences.

This reflects to Positions through iterating project where I made a hundred collages from a free newspaper. To see same images again and again makes me think, isn't it what media does to us? Force-feeding us with informations until we don't know which one is really important anymore and absorb everything as an entertainment. Postman (2007) said, this could desensitized ourselves from the actual issue because we are drowning in 'the sea of irrelevancies'.

TUESDAY, MAY 17, 2022

TUESDAY, MAY 17, 2022

I started to expand the exploration into another free and paid newspapers. Trying to compare eight newspapers like solving a puzzle. Trying to find something that Flusser (2011) said as a calibration point.

Russia-Ukraine war inflation headwinds to blow European economy off course

PUTIN'S BARBARIC PHOSPHORUS ATTACK

Putin backs down over Nato expansion as Ukrainian troops reach his border

UKRAINE ARMY AT RUSSIA'S BORDER

Mad Vlad shoots his own troops

by its forces reach frontier with Russia in offensive from Kharkiv Ukrainian troops leave steelworks pending exchange

Bailey hammers home warning on pay rises

'Bank faces huge test of monetary policy', as ministers question its independence

Tories wage war on Bank of England as chinks appear in Threadneedle Street's armour

Bailey: "Very difficult"

BACKLASH AS OFGEM PLOTS CAP CHANGES

Scrap the cap

Price cap shake-up threatens a bleak winter

Energy price rises four times a

Get set for energy bills to rise four times a year

Price cap reform is delusional, say energy activists

Sold down the river by weak watchdog

TUESDAY, MAY 17, 2022

+

Tuesday 17 May 2022

Tuesday May 17 2022

TUESDAY 17 MAY 2022

'APOCALYPTIC' WARNING OVER FOOD PRICES

By Helen Meade
Britain's food 'apocalypse' will be brought to the world's attention by the UK's food and drink industry, says the Food and Drink Federation (FDF). The FDF has warned that the UK's food and drink industry is facing a 'catastrophic' crisis as inflation soars and the cost of living rises.

Bank chief: food price rises will be 'apocalyptic'

Soaring inflation 'major worry for this country'

BANK CHIEF: FAMILIES ARE FACING FOOD PRICE APOCALYPSE

Food shortages another casualty of Ukraine war

By cataloguing the articles in eight different newspapers, I can see the 'missing puzzle' and understand the positioning of each newspaper.

More pressure on Tories after ministerial row

JACK MENDEL

● A minted minister tells the poor to work harder
● Backlash as protesters say Maclean taking job...

Cost of living takes toll on health of majority in UK

IF YOU'RE POOR, JUST FIND A JOB THAT PAYS MORE

OFFICIAL NEW GOVERNMENT ADVICE ON HOW WE CAN ALL BEAT COST OF LIVING CRISIS

Struggling with the cost of living? Tory minister has the answer:

IF YOU'RE POOR, JUST FIND A JOB THAT PAYS MORE

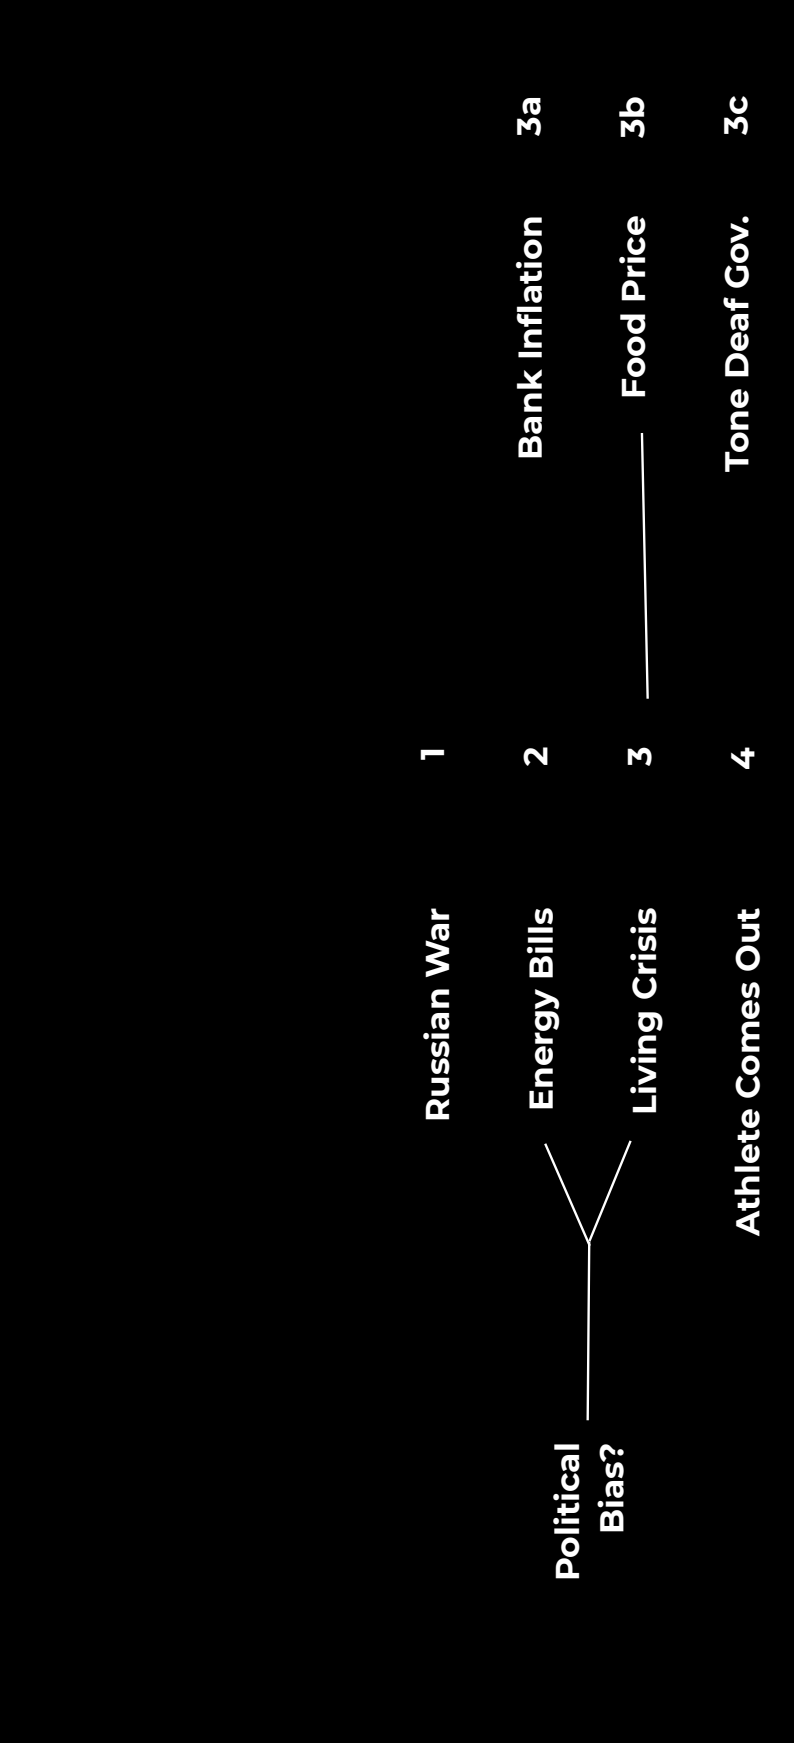

MINISTER'S ADVICE ON COST OF LIVING CRISIS

WORK MORE HOURS...or get a better paid job

Work longer hours to pay rising bills, says Tory MP

TUESDAY, MAY 17, 2022

TUESDAY 17 MAY 2022

Moving on, I got two interesting insights, the first one is how political bias affects headlines. Each newspaper has different focus and way to deliver a story about how Russian war is causing the rising of energy bills cap in the UK, where inflations affects the food prices, causing living crisis, and giving pressure to the government to overcome long term issue. This reminds me of Queneau's Exercises in Style. The interesting part is how they split up from the living crisis issue, where conservative goes with food price, and left-wing focused on the 'tone-deaf' government issue.

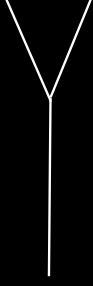

Elizabeth Line 5

Evil Text 6

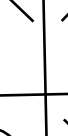

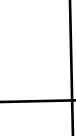

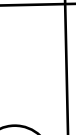

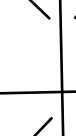

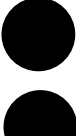

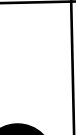

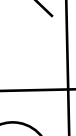

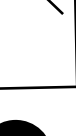

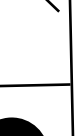

Lone Murderer 7

Racial Bias?

Wife Killer Pilot 8

	City AM	Daily Express	Daily Mail	Daily Star	The Daily Telegraph	Evening Standard	Metro	Morning Star
Russian War	●	●●	×	●	●●	×	●	×
Energy Bills	○	●	●	●	●●	×	×	●
Bank Inflation	○	●●	○	×	●	×	×	×
Food Price	×	○●●		×		×	●	×
Tone Deaf Gov.	●	●	×	○●●	●	×	●	○
	×	●●●	●●●	●	●	●●	○	×

Athlete Comes Out
Elizabeth Line
Evil Text
Lone Murderer
Wife Killer Pilot
price (£)	0	0.9	0.8	0.65	2.8	0	0	1.2

 pages

 on headlines

 mixed topic

 no topic

who

Loner who spent his time

murder

Suffocated...Caroline, 20

Greek pilot

The second thing is how newspapers' racial bias curates images and texts to represent murderers.

e watching TV in his bedroom erred

The couple

who?

By concealing the headlines using cardboard that perforated according to my images and texts curations. I want to play with people interpretations, to tell audiences what I want them to perceive, rather than the truth.

Would this change our positioning as a designer in digesting information?

How image selections and typeface choice influenced audience's position in reading news?

How could those visual aspects encourage audience to feel relieve to feel regret to feel sad or to feel scared?

Go faster,

To be what hooks (1997) said as enlightened witnesses.

beat to death

To aware of things that concealed in plain sight.

DAILY STAR

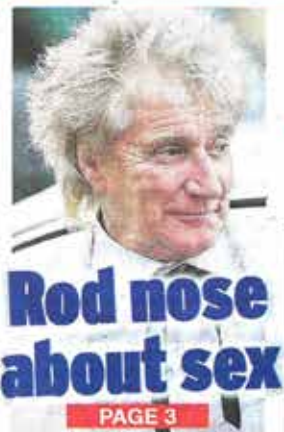

THOUGHT FOR THE DAY
Where do we apply to become a Government minister?

TUESDAY, MAY 17, 2022

PROUD TO LOVE ANIMALS

65P

OFFICIAL N ADVICE ON BEAT COST

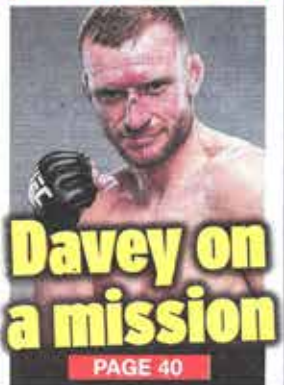

Rod nose about sex

PAGE 3

Col's a super sleuth

PAGE 7

Davey on a mission

PAGE 40

DO SO

Minister: Either even harder in

Handy top tips from .. V
MP on £106,000.. £

Ken Hag: I'll put United top again

SEE STARSPORT

NEW GOVERNMENT
HOW WE CAN ALL OF LIVING CRISIS

N'T BE POOR

er get a better job or work in the crappy one you have

Go faster,
you lazy git!

■ by AARON TINNEY

WE should all beat the cost of living crisis by getting better jobs or working ourselves to death in the ones we have, suggests a Government minister. Thank you very much.

Full story: Pages 8-9

Who once claimed 218,000 exes.. — Who's entitled to 8 weeks off a year

Reference

Barthes, R. (1977) Death of the Author. London: Fontana Press.

Cwynar, S. (2019) Modern Art in Your Life. MoMA

Flusser, V. (2011) Does Writing Have a Future?. Minnesota: University of Minnesota Press.

Media Education Foundation (1997) bell hooks: cultural criticism and transformation. Available at: Kanopy.

Konnikova, M. (17 December 2014) How Headlines Change the Way We Think, The New Yorker. Available at <https://www.newyorker.com/science/aria-konnikova/headlines-change-way-think> (Accessed: 28 May 2022)

Kurland, J. (2022) SCUMB Manifesto. London: Mack.

Kurland, J. (2021) SCUMB Manifesto. Exhibition held at Higher Picture Gallery New York from 13 March - 8 May 2021

Levine, S. (1977) The Pictures Generation. Exhibition held at Artist Space New York from 24 September - 29 October 1977.

M. Grazia Busa. (2013) Introducing the Language of the News :A Student's Guide. London: Routledge.

McLuhan, M. (2008) Medium is The Massage. London: Penguin Classics.

O'Hagan, S. (23 April 2022) Snip it up and start again: the woman who's reworking the photography canon, The Guardian. Available at <https://www.theguardian.com/artanddesign/2022/apr/23/justine-kurland-a-new-scumb-manifesto-photography-collage-cut-up> (Accessed: 5 May 2022)

Postman, N. (2007) Amusing Ourselves to Death. New York: Penguin USA.

Queneau, R. (2013) Exercises in Style. London: Alma Classics.

Saggese, J. M. (2014) The Pictures Generation, Khan Academy. Available at: <https://www.khanacademy.org/humanities/art-1010/post-minimalism/painting/a/the-pictures-generation> (Accessed: 28 May 2022)

Willcock, J (2022) Emotional or Extra-Rational Response to Objects. Workshop held at CSM Museum on 20 April 2022.

Wigan

(Reporter): Some of your colleagues... think we should have a government minister for the cost of living given that inflation is likely to hit something like ten per cent at least ten per cent. We're told by summit this year do you think that's a good idea?

Westminster

(Rachel Maclean):

So, I've not heard that specific request but what I would say of course that's the chancellor's job, and it's the job of the whole cabinet and the whole government, and every minister is looking at particular costs that are impacting on the across that they are controlling and looking to see where savings can be made, and where reductions can be made, because, the cost of living isn't about energy bills, but it's also about all those other things that you've mentioned. So, I think what we need to focus now, is over the long term. We have got these short term pressures on us that we're all aware of and that your families in Wigan are seeing. But over the long term we need to have a plan, to grow economy and make sure that people able to protect themselves better. Whether that is by taking on more hours or moving to a better paid job, and these are, these are long term actions, but that's what we're focused on as a government.

Wigan

(Reporter): You say, uh.. taking on more hours.. You mean, some people that I've been chatting to minister over the last I've moved outside actually because they need to get ready and get the kids ready for school, you know, some people are working three jobs. They're working every hour that God sends them, and they're still going to food banks to get food, because they can't afford to feed their kids, you know, so, it's not as straight forward as that, is it? Westminster (Rachel Maclean): No, and of course it's not, and I'm not suggesting that for one moment, but, we have often heard in the past when people are facing problems with their budgets that one of the obstacles and it may not be for everybody, one of the obstacles is about to take on more hours or even move to a better-paid job and of course, it's an individual situation depending on that particular family situation. But that's why the job centre exist, that's why the work coaches exist, that's why we put the support into those job centres to work with individuals on their own individual situation. So, it may be right for some people, they may be able to access additional hours, but, of course it's not going to work for people who already working in three jobs, and that's why we need to have the other measures in place, such as all the help that we're putting into the schools, the help with the local authorities, help and support that I've already mentioned. These are where we're going to target the help where it's most needed.

Real transcript based on the interview video on:
https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=n_-mjk63_EM

